TRANSLATIONS

From French papers to the 14th September.

FRENCH REPUBLIC.

ACTS OF GOVERNMENT.

REPORT made to the Firſt Conſul, in Senate, by the miniſter for exterior relations, the 20th Fructidor (7th Sept.) year 10.

The firſt conſul having ordered me to render him an account, in ſenate, of the differences which have lately happened between the French republic and the regency of Algiers, and of the ſucceſs attending the meaſures which have been taken to terminate them, I ought previouſly to recall the ſtate of affairs which preceded them.

From the frontiers of Egypt to the ſtrait of Gibraltar, the north of Africa is poſſeſſed by a people ſtrangers to the public code of Europe. The principles and manners, which, if we may be allowed the expreſſion, combine the different European powers into one ſociety, which not only prohibit oppreſſion, but enjoin kind reception, protection and aſſiſtance in caſe of danger, to the navigation and commerce of a peaceable people; which reprove every unjuſt aggreſſion; which tarniſhes that valor that is attended with cruelty, and which deſire that the rights of humanity ſhould always remain ſacred: theſe manners, are ſtill unknown to the people of thoſe countries.

They acknowledge no other right of nations than the laws of their own police, which, permitting amongſt themſelves individual violences, authoriſe them with reſpect to foreigners, and even conſecrate them as acts of courage towards enemies. They are ignorant that the law of nations, by its general rules, aboliſhes thoſe general rights, which a people too much inflated with their local importance, pretend to infer from the licence of their uſages. It is to be believed, for the honor of Europe, that in this reſpect the ſupremacy of the law of nations, aſſigning juſt limits to the toleration of particular legiſlations, ſhall not, henceforward, be contemned, excepting in Africa.

The regency of Algiers is particularly remarkable for an audacity which certain events muſt have increaſed.

Charles the Vth turned againſt Africa his victorious arms. He wiſhed to deliver Europe from the incurſions of barbarians, by reducing them to inſignificance; but the event deceived him, and did not anſwer to the grandeur of his preparations.

In later times, Louis XIV. avenged on the Algerines the honor of the French flag. Algiers by his orders, was bombarded three times in the ſpace of 6 years; but here his vengeance was bounded. The affairs of Europe exacted all his attention. The Algerines, by this circumſtance, however, learned from that period to reſpect France, and the peace, which was concluded in 1689, ſubſiſted above a century, when the inſtances and orders of the Sublime Porte cauſed it, in the year 7, to be broken.

Of the enemies which remained to France, when the firſt conſul aſſumed the reins of government, the regency of Algiers was the leaſt formidable. The firſt conſul, anxious to extinguiſh every where the calamities of war, apprized that the dey of Algiers had declared war againſt his inclination, and was deſirous of peace, ſent a negociator to Algiers, preceded by the renown of thoſe exploits of which Italy, Germany, Egypt and Syria had been the theatre; the firſt conſul's envoy was received as he ought to have been. Peace was decreed and even proclaimed in the divan. However, a new interpoſition of the Sublime Porte poſtponed the ſignature. War appeared to recommence, but it was a war without hoſtilities. All the French were permitted, freely, to retire from Algiers with all their property, and the agent of France waited at Alicant for the moment when negociations could be reſumed.

In ſhort, a definitive treaty which aſſures to France all the advantages ſtipulated by the antient treaties, and which by new ſtipulations, guarantees more explicitly & fully the liberty of French commerce and navigation with Algiers, was ſigned the 7th of laſt Nivoſe.

The general peace was concluded, and commerce began to reſume its accuſtomed routine.

But very ſoon we learned that Algerine armaments overran the Mediterranean, deſolating the commerce of France and infeſting its coaſts. Even the flag and territory of the French republic was not reſpected by the corſairs of the regency. They carried into Algiers tranſports which ſailed from Toulon deſtined for St. Domingo. They ſeized a Neapolitan veſſel in the ſeas, and almoſt within the banks of France. An Algerine rais dared, in the road of Tunis, to make a captain of a French merchantman ſubmit to infamous treatment. The barks of the coral company, which agreeably to the terms of the treaty, went to fiſh for coral, were violently driven from the coaſt. The charge d'affairs in vain demanded ſatisfaction; they had the preſumption to make him propoſitions injurious to the dignity of the French nation; that France ſhould purchaſe the execution of the treaty!

Informed of theſe aggreſſions the Firſt Conſul ordered a naval diviſion to ſail for Algiers.

I tranſmit by his orders, the inſtruction to the charge d'affaires, the citizen Dubois Thainville, who deported himſelf with as much energy and dignity as he conducted with prudence.

The diviſion commanded by the contre-admiral Leiſſegues, appeared before Algiers the 17th Thermidor, adjutant commandant Hullin an officer of the palace was on board, the bearer of a letter from the Firſt Conſul to the Dey.

On the 18th this officer went on ſhore, was received with diſtinction, preſented to the Dey, and delivered the Firſt Conſul's letter, which was conceived in the following terms:

"Bonaparte, Firſt Conſul, to the very high and very magnificent Dey of Algiers; whom God preſerve in proſperity and glory!

"I write you this letter direct, becauſe I know that you have miniſters who deceive you, and who induce you to conduct your ſelf in a manner that may bring upon you the greateſt misfortunes.—This letter will be delivered into your own hands by an adjutant of my palace. Its purport is to demand from you prompt reparation, and ſuch as I have a right to expect, from the ſentiments you have always entertained for me. A French officer has been beaten in the road of Tunis by one of your officer's rais. The agent of the republic has demanded ſatisfaction and could not obtain it. Two brigs of war have been taken by your corſairs, which carried them to Algiers, and have retarded them on their voyage. A Neapolitan veſſel has been ſeized by your corſairs, in the road of Hieres, by which act the French territory has been violated. In ſhort, of the veſſel which was caſt away laſt winter on your coaſt, 150 men are ſtill miſſing, detained in the hands of barbarians. I demand reparation from you for all theſe grievances; and not doubting but that you will take all the meaſures which I ſhould take in ſimilar circumſtances, I diſpatch a veſſel to bring home to France, the 150 miſſing men. I beſeech you, moreover, to miſtruſt thoſe of your miniſters who are enemies to France; you cannot have greater enemies, and if I deſire to live in peace with you, it is eſſential that you ſhould preſerve the good underſtanding about to be re eſtabliſhed, which alone can maintain you in that rank & proſperity you now enjoy; for God has decreed the puniſhment of all thoſe who are unjuſt towards me.

"If you wiſh to live in friendſhip with me, you muſt not expect to treat me as a feeble power; you muſt cauſe the French flag to be reſpected, as likewiſe that of the Italian republic, which has nominated me its chief, and you muſt make me reparation for all the injuries which I have ſuſtained. This letter being intended for no other purpoſe, I requeſt you to read it yourſelf with attention, and let me know by return of the officer I ſend you, the reſolution you mean to take."

Whatever were the ſecret intentions of the Dey, he only teſtified the deſire of living in good underſtanding with the French republic. "I wiſh always to be," ſays he, "the friend of Bonaparte."

He promiſed and actually gave every ſatisfaction that was demanded.

To render particular homage to the firſt conſul, in the perſon of his envoy, he was diſpoſed even to diſpenſe with the ordinary forms, and contrary to the immemorial uſages of the regency, he received, in the moſt magnificent kioſck of his gardens, the officer, of the palace, the charge d'affaires of the republic, the contre-admiral Leiſſegues and his numerous etat-major. It was in that place, that he delivered to general Hullin the anſwer which he had prepared for the firſt conſul, in ſubſtance as follows:

"In the name of the only God, the God of mankind, our maſter, the illuſtrious and magnificent lord Muſtapha Pacha, dey of Algiers, whom God preſerve in glory.

To our friend Bonaparte, firſt conſul of the republic of France, preſident of the of the Italian republic.

I ſalute you, the peace of God be with you.

Henceforth, our friend, I inform you that I have received your letter dated 29 Meſhdor. I have read it; it was delivered to me by the general of your palace, and your (vekil) charge d'affaires, Dubois Thainville. I reply article by article.

1ſt. You complain of rais Ali-Tatra, although he is one of my Joſidaches, I decreed that he ſhould be put to death. At the inſtant of the execution of his ſentence, your vekil demanded his pardon in your name, and as a favor, for your ſake I have reprieved him.

2. You demand from me the Neapolitan polacre, taken, you ſay, under the cannon of France, The particulars of this tranſaction, as reported to you, are not correct; but agreeable to your requeſt, I have delivered up eight Chriſtians compoſing its crew; I have ſurrendered them to your vekil.

3d. You demand a Neapolitan veſſel, which, it is ſaid, ſailed from Corfu with French clearances. No French papers were found on board; but, in conformity to your deſire, I have ſet the crew at liberty, and have delivered them to your vekil.

4th. You demand the puniſhment of the rais who brought into this port two veſſels belonging to the French republic. According to your requeſt I have diſcharged him from my ſervice; but I muſt inform you that my rais know not how to read European characters; they are only acquainted with the uſual paſſports, and for this reaſon it will be proper that the veſſels of war belonging to the French republic, ſhould make ſome ſignal, whereby they may be known by my corſairs.

5th. You demand 150 men, who, you ſay are in my territories: there does not one of them exiſt. It was God's will that they all ſhould periſh, a circumſtance which occaſioned me great pain.

6th. You ſay there are certain perſons who give me counſel that may embroil me with you. Our friendſhip is ſolid and ancient, and all thoſe who ſeek to embroil us, ſhall be diſappointed.

7th. You demand that I ſhall be the friend of the Italian republic. I will reſpect its flag the ſame as your own, as you deſire. Had any one elſe have made a ſimilar requeſt, I would no have granted it for a million of dollars.

8th. You would not give me the 200,000 dollars which I demanded of you, as a recompence for the loſſes which I have ſuſtained for you. Whether you will give them, or will not give them, we will, notwithſtanding, always be good friends.

9th. I have terminated with my friend Dubois Thainville, your vekil, every thing reſpecting the coral fiſhery, which your veſſels can immediately reſume. The African company ſhall enjoy the ſame prerogatives which it formerly enjoyed; I have given orders to the bey of Conſtantine, to afford it every poſſible protection.

10th. I have ſatisfied you in every reſpect as you have deſired, in whatever you have demanded; in return, you will ſatisfy me, as I have ſatisfied you.

11th. Therefore, I requeſt that you will give orders, that the nations my enemies may not navigate under your flag nor that of the Italian republic; that there may be no further diſcuſſions between us, as I wiſh always to be friends with you.

12th. I have ordered my rais to reſpect the French flag at ſea. I will puniſh the firſt who ſhall bring a French veſſel into my ports.

If at any time hereafter any diſcuſſions ſhould be neceſſary between us, write to me direct and every thing ſhall be amicable arranged.

I ſalute you: may God continue you in glory.

Algiers—this 13th of the moon Rabaid Ewel, in the year of the Hegira 1217."

In concluding this report, I ought to inform the firſt conſul, that the adjutant-commandant of the palace, Hullin, and the contre-admiral Leiſſegues, have fulfilled the commiſſion entruſted to them, with dignity, firmneſs and circumſpection.

October 27.

Laſt night the Britiſh Packet Prince Erneſt, capt. Petre, arrived here, with the September Mail. She ſailed from Falmouth on the 7th. of September, and is 7 days from Halifax. She brings no later advices than recently received via. France.

By the brig Little Sarah, from New Orleans, we are informed, that that port was to be ſhut againſt the entry of American veſſels ten days after her departure, which was the twentieth of September. The American property in that place, was to be brought away in veſſels then there. The inhabitants hourly expected the French.

The four maſted ſhip L'Invention, yeſterday arrived in this port from Leghorn. At the time of her departure from thence, two Spaniſh ſhips of the line and two frigates, were lying there, waiting on his Etrurian Majeſty, who was daily expected at Leghorn to embark for Barcelona. By this veſſel, the accounts of Commodore Morris having gone up the Mediterranean with convoy, is confirmed.

We hear that the Rev. Mr. Thomas Hall, Chaplin of the Britiſh factory at Leghorn, (a native of Pennſylvania) has lately ſent to the Hiſtorical Society, of Boſton, a preſent of two Stone Coffins, ſuppoſed to be at leaſt 3000 years old, of a moſt curious ſtructure. One of them has various figures on it in the true Grecian ſtile in beſſorelivo, repreſenting ſome intereſting events, as yet undiſcovered by the antiquarians.

PHILADELPHIA, October 28.

Ship India, Captain Hathaway, thirty three days from Liverpool, anchored laſt evening a ſhort diſtance below Glouceſter Point. We underſtand ſhe brings London papers to the 16th, and Liverpool to 18th September. A few days before the departure of the India from Liverpool, a dreadful fire broke out in an extenſive range of large Warehouſes, which bid defiance to the exertions of the inhabitants, and deſtroyed property to an incalculable amount. It being high water at the time of the accident, the ſhipping which otherwiſe muſt have been deſtroyed, received no injury.

Extract of a letter from Demarara, dated the 27th September laſt received by the brig Recovery, Pierce.

"We are again troubled by the Maroon negeoes and I am afraid we ſhall have a general revolt of the ſlaves in this colony. I expect it will be ſo before long, as I before told you there will be no more ſlavery in Dutch Guiana.

The Editor of a Democratic paper printed at Worceſter, Maſſachuſetts, on the twenty-firſt inſtant, has publiſhed obſervations on the correſpondence between Mr. Jefferſon and Callender, which he has, moſt audaciouſly, headed with the words—"CALLENDER AND THE DEVIL." We have ſeen nothing to equal this in any of the "Ariſtocratic" papers. The Editor is probably one of the new ſect, diſtinguiſhed by the name of BURRITES.

On the 6th of Auguſt laſt, hailed a fleet of French tranſports, under the convoy of a cutter brig deſtined for St. Domingo or Louiſianna; there was ſaid to be 10,000 on board the fleet, under the command of a general that had commanded in Italy thoſe troops were all from Italy. Alſo, a French 20 gun ſhip and a cutter brig, bound to Tobago, with a French governor on board for that Iſland, 2 other 20 gun ſhips and 2 cutter brigs from Breſt to Toulon, to join a fleet againſt the Turks. It was currently reported by the Engliſh veſſels that arrived from England, that there was a Mooriſh corſair cruizing for American merchant ſhips off Cape St. Vincents.

IMPORTANT EXTRACT

Of a letter from a reſpectable Houſe in London, to a Correſpondent in Boſton.

"Agreeably to your requeſt, we have enquired as to the manner in which the Treaty Commiſſioners will iſſue their awards in favor of the American claimants. Their rule is, and will be, to iſſue their awards in favor of the National Agent, Mr. George W. Erving, in all caſes where the claimants are not repreſented by a ſpecial agent, with full powers to receive the ſums which may be awarded to them; but when ſuch ſpecial agents appear, the awards are then made out in their names, for the uſe of the claimants they repreſent.

"This information is important, and ought to be communicated to the American claimants, who have not yet appointed any ſpecial agent. Mr. Samuel Williams, late American Conſul here, and Mr. Samuel Cabot, have powers from many of your claimants. They are, and may be fully confided in, to apply what they may receive agreeably to orders; but we know nothing of Mr. Erving's character for ſolidity and punctuality; nor do we find any one who does know him. By appointing ſpecial agents, who are known to be ſafe and punctual, the claimants will avoid ſome riſk perhaps, and will certainly ſave the intereſt of their money for ſome months, by having it applied to the uſe directed, as ſoon as it ſhall be received."

A letter from an American gentleman at Dunkirk, dated July 21, 1802, ſays, "My affairs in this country are not wound up yet. My claims, like the reſt of Americans, remain unattended to. All exertions of Mr. LIVINGSTON ſeem to have no effect; at leaſt they produce nothing apparent. We are thought very little of, I can aſſure you; and I am fearful, when once Louiſiana is taken poſſeſſion of, a long time will not elapſe before our tranquility is diſturbed."

PLATINA.

Several hundred pounds of that rare and peculiar production of the Weſtern hemiſphere, the Metal called Platina, have been lately imported into New York from South America. If the Geographer Genral wiſhes to procure Platina for the ſpecolums of his reflecting Teleſcopes;—if the Director of the Mint deſires to obtain ſome of it for Crucibles and Melting pots; if Colleges want ſpecimens for their Cabinets of Mineralogy, if private Gentlemen are anxious to have indeſtructible apparatus for their laboratories; or, the Government of the State or the Nation are deſirous of providing the moſt permanent and unalterable materials for ſtandard weights, and for meaſures of capacity and length; there is now a fine opportunity of getting Platina for the purpoſe. This notice is written by a friend of domeſtic improvements; as opportunities for purchaſing this material in ſuch quantity do not often occur.

FRENCH NEGROES!

Extract of a letter from a reſpectable gentleman in Georgetown (S. C.) to a merchant in New-York dated the 10th inſt.

"Three French frigates left the Hook the day we did, and we have juſt heard of their landing their negroes on Long Bay. We are all ſummoned to turn out with the different companies, and the orders are not to take a ſingle negro, but ſhoot them all! we are informed they have landed about 1000; by to-morrow morning there will be ſoldiers enough at the place to prevent any more landing—if they get ſcattered among our negroes it will be a dreadful thing."

EDUCATION.

By Elizabeth Hamilton,

Author of the "Memoirs of Modern Philosophers," &c.

ON this interesting and highly important branch of science, several valuable works have, within a few years, been presented to the public, among which the above, as it is the most recent, so is it pre-eminently useful. Led by her subject into an inquiry concerning the nature of the active powers, and intellectual faculties of the human mind, Mrs. Hamilton has developed those powers and faculties with a perspicuity and ability which, while it arrests the attention of those who have most successfully studied these subjects, must render a competent knowledge of them familiar to the most ordinary capacity. The superficialness and frivolity of character engendered by the modern system of education, have been long, and justly, a subject of complaint; but the particular causes by which these serious evils have been produced, were hitherto but imperfectly known, or little attended to: To trace these evils to their source, and to point out the proper remedy, is the ultimate object to which the meritorious efforts of this Author have been directed; and in these efforts she has, it is believed, succeeded beyond the most sanguine expectations. Such indeed, is the importance of the inquiries which form the subject of this work, and so great the success with which those inquiries have been pursued, that the happiest consequences to society may reasonably be expected to result from the present publication. To all it is interesting in a very high degree, but to mothers of families, and others engaged in the formation of the minds of children and youth, it will prove an acquisition truly invaluable.

The rapid sale of two impressions of this work in England, sufficiently evinces the high estimation in which it is there held: An American edition—equal to, and at little more than half the price of the British edition*—is now offered to the patronage of the American public; by whom its merits will, doubtless, be justly appreciated.

[An Extract from the above Work.]

"From most of the writers on education it "would appear, that it is only to people of rank "and fortune that education is a matter of any "importance. By such alone can the systems "that are generally proposed, be adopted. To "such, therefore, must we believe them to be "exclusively addressed. To make fine ladies "and finished gentlemen forms no part of my "plan, which has for its object the subjection of "the passions, the direction of the affections, and "the cultivation of the faculties that are common "to the whole human race."

* The price of the British edition, is fifteen shillings, Sterling, in boards.
